

Lab 10 report

For lab 10, I downloaded audio clips from freesound.org that are related to our project, an internal structure mapping system. In line with this project, the sounds were related to indoor noises like crowd noises and foot steps. I then had the program analyze a randomly chosen sound to classify, and pushed the results to an older Android tablet. Results below:

